“ What a wonderful thing to say, Charlotte. I'm sure he's sending you smiles and love, along with your sweet mother. :)

“ I am adding to Billy's obituary since I was not available at the time to do so. Billy was truly a wonderful young man, although his autism and other special needs kept him from ever fully enjoying the too short life he lived. It is said that when one dies, the impediments one suffered through in life drop away and one becomes "whole" again. Holy. I sincerely hope this is true for Billy, for if anyone ever deserved it, he did. I miss you, Billy, and I sometimes feel you nearby. I even sometimes think I hear you. Maybe you are watching over your old man, I hope so. I miss you so much. I am so sorry we never got to say goodbye. I was in hospital very sick when I was told you went on to meet your mother. It was a real shock and made me very sorry. Yet, I had a feeling that you were happy somehow, maybe reunited with your mom's spirit, or your Grandmas Jean and Cindy. And Grandpa Dale and all your ancestors you never met. It's a nice fantasy, yet gives me comfort. I hope to see you and your mom once again, Billy. Please know, I will always love you, forever. With all my love, Your father, Tim

“ My brother was a wonderful person. He had such a bright personality and full of smiles. He loved going on rides, being out in nature. I have so much memories of me and him when I was young. He was a wonderful person and will be missed very much. He is now with our mother. We will meet again someday.
